Governor Palin,

I hope you are having a good trip. I wanted to let you know we've had inquiries from legislators regarding serving on the Health Council. Rep Doll, in particular, would like to serve. I wanted to run it by you and Commissioner Jackson before I respond to their office.

Thanks,

Governor Palin and Mr. Tibbles,

I received a call from the Corporation and also from Commissioner Galvin regarding the upcoming meeting (next Wed and Thurs). Galvin, as Commissioner of Revenue, is required by statute to serve on the board. Another seat should be filled by a "head of a principal department of the governor's designation." In the past the Commissioner of DNR, Commerce or the AG has served as the designee. Galvin recommends Irwin, Colberg or Notti.

I can let the Corporation know which commissioner will serve if either of you can respond back via email or phone with a name.

Hope all is well back east!

Governor Palin: I would like to ask a small favor. When we met at the Alliance annual meeting you said you were about done with my book and would pass in on to your dad. We are planning a second printing and I would really appreciate a squib from you. A squib is just a brief comment on the book that we put on the inside flap of the cover. An example is Rick Mystrom's squib " Few Alaskans have more outdoor experiences and tales to tell than Bob Bell. He lives the Alaska that many just dream about and now he is sharing them with others in a fun adventure-filled book". If you are willing to do a squib I might suggest something like " As the governor of Alaska I travel throughout the state. Therefore I have visited many of the places and met many of the people in Bob's book. His fun and adventure filled stories do these people and places justice and reflect the sprit of Alaska." This is just a suggestion. If you want write anything you feel is appropriate. I look forward to serving on the game board and if I can help in any way on the gasoline let me know. Bob

Wagoner Calls for Hayes Impeachment

Resolution Directs House to Begin Trial

JUNEAU—Sen. Tom Wagoner, R-Kenai, will introduce a resolution Monday directing the State House to begin an impeachment trial to remove indicted University of Alaska Regent James C. Hayes.

"I thought long and hard before I decided to go through with the resolution to impeach Regent Hayes. I have met the gentleman, I have served with him on the postsecondary commission, I like him as a person, but when the university is put in the position that they have a regent who has been indicted by the federal government, I think that casts a pall over the whole Board of Regents and the university administration," Sen. Wagoner said.

The resolution refers the matter to the House of Representatives for a trial on impeachment for the removal of Mr. Hayes from the University of Alaska Board of Regents.

The resolution states that the Senate finds by clear and convincing evidence that Mr. Hayes has committed an impeachable offense by his unauthorized use of the University of Alaska Seal to secure funding for his personal benefit and use, and by being unable or unwilling to carry out his duties to the University of Alaska as demonstrated by his past and continuing absences from the meetings of the Board of Regents.

A federal grand jury in Anchorage has indicted Mr. Hayes on multiple counts of theft, conspiracy and money laundering, charging that Mr. Hayes and his wife improperly diverted $825,000 from federal grants that were supposed to go to LOVE Social Services Center.

Hayes' 8-year appointment to the Board of Regents expires in 2011, and he has stated he intends to serve out his term.

"I think the right thing for him to do would be step down. If he isn't willing to do that, then I am willing to go the last step we have, and that's an impeachment resolution and start the impeachment process, because nobody should be allowed to sit in a seat when they have this much controversy surrounding them dealing with the Board of Regents. I just don't think that's right," Sen. Wagoner said.

Chuck Hamel has been calling nonstop to try and get an appointment with you while you are in DC. He says he has important FBI information about corruption at Prudhoe Bay that you need to know about. I have asked both Joe Balash and Meg Stapleton to call him. John Bitney recommends you do not talk to him directly, that one of your staff should. John wants somebody from the staff to find out what he's calling about so he doesn't spring something on you. He knows you are in DC for NGA so he may try to run into you somewhere, he is very adamant about talking directly to you.
